

Some of the things around the room have been made from the 3D printer like the door thingie that helps it keep it open or the marker and eraser holder. I think it's all really creative and can be very useful for things like the ID cards.